Tom Sullivan Is Fired

Marrienne McMullen, unable to force Tom Sullivan to resign despite the past few years of non-stop harassment and retaliation, has taken the final step in terminating his employment. I have attached the letter she sent to him and will also link it on his page.

What this means is that they have slandered him, libeled him and smeared him and now he has no choice except to clear his name and his reputation in the field.

Marrienne McMullen, I remind you, has absolutely no credentials in the field except that she was once Foster Mother. No education, no certifications, and she is the judge and jury that directed the harassment and retaliation against Sullivan and now, with no proof that he has done anything wrong, literally no proof except that which she herself has contrived, she has terminated him.

Echoes

Just like the escalating scandal in Great Britain that is widening in scope, depth and breadth every month as new revelations regarding who in government and law enforcement were aware of the rampant child abuse and not only did nothing to stop it, but harassed, intimidated and retaliated against victims and those who reported the abuse; and just as in Great Britain there were so called charities and religious organizations involved in the abuse, rape, murder and trafficking of children, people who stood up were fired in similar fashion by their administrators just as Tom Sullivan is now terminated by McMullen.

Just like those scandals, most of which did not break until the key lynchpin, Jimmy Savile, a prominent, popular celebrity who was well-connected to every level of government, every charity that supposedly was there to benefit children but which it turned out was there to collect huge sums of donations and government funding while subjecting children to the perversions of Savile, his cronies and their pals high up in government, right up to Buckingham Palace, so we have a webwork of scam charities and government agencies all invested in NOT disclosing or allowing to be disclosed, their utter failure to protect children by the tens of thousands.

Indeed, not until the Refugee Children scandal broke last month did anyone realize how many children were 'disappeared without records' into the hands of slavers, pedophile rings and worse, by the 10's of thousands, all of which were supposed to be protected and documented and followed up by the ACF (McMullen and her crew) but which, because they have worked at protecting the exact same system as that in Great Britain and for the exact same reasons, ACF of course failed to protect those children and tens of thousands more.

They could have had this all under control by the time the refugee children had arrived had they but heeded Thomas Sullivan's disclosures and whistleblowing years earlier, and made corrections which would have protected American kids from the ongoing abuses and neglect by the system, and that would have guaranteed that these massive 'failures' by ACF in the case of Refugee Children never would have occurred.

But instead of addressing clear and evidenced, well documented Mandated Reports issued by Thomas Sullivan, they immediately embarked on a mission to silence him. Guess that's what McMullen sees as 'the real problem'?

Yeah, that fixed it.

As shocking as it is to have thousands of kids go missing from the unaccompanied minors demographic (as detailed in the February 15, 2016 Blog posting), realize that it happened that way because it was absolutely set up to happen that way and Thomas Sullivan's efforts to rectify the utter failures within the ACF were met with heavy handed retaliation against him rather than any kind of remedial action or plan on the part of ACF honchos.

There's more than $80 Billion that goes through McMullen's agency every year. How much of that goes into those dark places where political influence can be bought with the suffering of children? I'd like to know, but I'm sure I'll be sickened when I find out.

Note: Some of the newspaper articles linked in blog postings that are more than 30 days old can either become dead links or due to the linked publication changing their postings, other articles entirely. Let me know if you need any articles that are defunct links and I will send you printer copies.

The Scandal in Great Britain over the Jimmy Savile pedophile ring is not that it existed, but that it was not the only one and that so many people charged with the care and protection of children by agency or charity, were themselves involved in directly participating and procuring the children to satisfy the ugliest of perversions known to Human Beings, or they were directly involved in covering up the crimes against children.

It's being exposed more and more over there. And the ACF scandal over here, and everyone involved (decades of involvement) along the same lines is also slowly coming to light.

It is as if what went on there followed a pattern that was copied over here, in the States. One echoes the other.

Penn State Not Over

Even as we were horrified by Jerry Sandusky's raping of little boys, the government that prosecuted him tried to convince us that no one else was involved. Now comes the revelation that several of the coaching staff had personally witnessed children being raped and had done nothing to stop it or report it. Penn State brought in millions of dollars from their football sports department. They had tremendous political influence. They still do.

The story became that only one coaching staff was aware of the rape of one child. That was false. Also, that Joe Paterno had been kept in the dark about all this evil. He was not.

Penn State's Insurance settled a case from 1976 where Joe Paterno was named as knowing about the rape of one or more little boys and he kept it quiet.

So, Coaching Staff, several not just one. And those involved with that charity, the Second Mile, and Joe Paterno... it just keeps peeling, like an onion.

The stories get buried in back pages so that those who are close to the power and influence of major College Sports, especially politicians, don't risk anyone looking too closely and connecting the dots.

Ray Gricar was a USAG investigating those abuses and he disappeared and was never found. His boss, Tom Corbett immediately put out the scenario that Gricar was a weird person, possibly meeting someone for a homosexual rendezvous that went badly... why would he do that?

Corbett then became Governor of Pennsylvania with the help of ---- Penn State Big Name Influencers such as Sandusky and Paterno. Whatever you do, don't look too closely and don't connect the dots, especially if you work in any government agency, you might get harassed, retaliated against and fired.

Or, you too, might disappear, and your reputation be smeared so that no one looks for you.

I guess Tom Sullivan being fired, his reputation smeared is all that can be done to him for now, but that's because too many of us are watching, and reporting.

All this because he dared to issue 13 Mandated reports on the corruption and child abuse on Spirit Lake Reservation. Twenty-Eight Years of hi caliber service to the agency, possibly the most qualified in the entire agency, silenced by a woman who has a lot of political clout (which is how despite her lack of qualifications she was able to get the position that she has) and because of her, thousands of children, nay, tens of thousands of children, are unaccounted for, and many reports come in of them being handed over to known child traffickers.

Instead of dealing with that problem, she puts all her effort into retaliating against Sullivan for daring to speak up. Or as she puts it: Not being sufficiently respectful of those whom she had convened a meeting to praise. Go figure.

By the way, those three remaining escapees, anyone even looking for them?

You know where to find me.
