The Truth Never Changes

Truth is the Rock that Fools break themselves upon. They fling themselves, again and again, trying to break it, to shape it into something less, something more like themselves. In the End, all they can do is reveal themselves. The Truth never changes.

The Truth is this: Children are being abused, raped, trafficked, sold, traded and it's being covered up by the Department of Justice at the highest levels and at the lowest levels.

What we have been reporting on in Spirit Lake Nation is happening throughout Indian Country and more and more, the same network that protects predators, whether it be for political gain or financial, the same system that has been hurting children, crippling the communities in Indian Country, are reaching far beyond Indian Country into the communities of every town, city, village, big or small, throughout the land.

The 13 Mandated Reports were made and they revealed and documented horrific child abuse that was ongoing. Abuse where known child abusers, predators were given unlimited access to infants, toddlers, young teens.

That was the Truth. They tried to cover it up. Timothy Purdon, then USAG in North Dakota revealed himself when he lied to reporters that all the reports had been thoroughly investigated and found to be 'false'.

Everyone involved with those reports knew they had not been investigated because not a single witness or reporter or victim had been interviewed. Within a few weeks of Purdon issuing that statement, a toddler, a few weeks shy of her third birthday, was brutally killed at the hands of her grandmother, while living in a house where a serial rapist, registered sex offender lived with the family.

That child was one of the children in the report. She and her twin sister had been removed from their protective Foster Care family only a couple of months earlier. They had been placed in Foster Care because of the clear and present danger their home environment presented, and because of their neglect and abuse, had been hospitalized for weeks.

The Foster Family grieved her death and her broken body was placed in a tiny casket while two tribes argued over who could get the funeral money for her (The family that murdered her got the cash), and no one paid for the funeral. The little gown she was laid to rest in was donated by the funeral home. Not a single family member showed up for the funeral, despite all of them getting their 'funeral money'.

This didn't faze Purdon in the least. Nor did it compel him or any of the other agencies to begin actual investigations into the 13 Mandated Reports. They just kept trying to say the Truth was something completely different, and every time they did, they revealed themselves more and more.

More children in that report were hurt. Reports of rape by a then 13 yr old girl by a 38 yr old man were treated as 'consensual' and she was taken away and put in detention, while he shrugged it off. Purdon's statement at the time about "There's always two sides to a rape story," revealed that under that expensive suit and pressed shirt lived a slimy, sweaty monster who refused to even investigate provable, profound cases of rape and abuse.

Presently, a teenage girl who has been forced to live with a serial sex offender (the same registered sex offender that lived in the house where the toddler was brutally murdered) was told when she reported being raped that the BIA would maybe investigate it after the holidays (This was October, two years ago). It still has not been investigated, and she has nowhere to turn. If the FBI and the DOJ and the BIA ignore the reports of rape, and reporting it just gets you more abuse, you stop trying after awhile.

What is happening to her is because Timothy Purdon, as USAG, refused to investigate her rapes, despite the efforts of counselors, and despite the efforts of Thomas Sullivan who was then Director of ACF Div 8.

Thomas Sullivan and his reports, his refusing to be silent, finally got him fired this year. He was one of the highest credentialed, most degreed people ever to work for the ACF, which by the way, is headed by a woman who has only political connections, and absolutely no credentials in Social Work, Child Development or anything else you would think would be a minimum requirement for a job that high up that manages a budget of over $82 BILLION Dollars a year.

$82 Billion a year can buy you a lot of power in politics and in business. It can garner you some very powerful friends. The only problem with that set up is that it is fragile. Very, very fragile. There's a lot of moving pieces that have to be kept in place and kept out of the prying eyes of the public and away from investigations.

Dominoes

It would be simple if it were all only in those high places, behind those opaque walls, but it isn't. It's built upon a foundation of sleaze and slime. Those sleaze and that slime, they need to be kept safe also. If they get arrested or investigated, they are weak and they will roll over, and over and over again on those higher up.

That's why it's important that when there is a huge child porn bust, such as Steven Bruce Cartier caught with the largest cache of Child rape images and videos on the planet, at that time, the USAG's office at the time (Purdon's Predecessor) stopped the investigation at him. They looked no further despite it being impossible he could have gotten all those images himself, and despite the fact that he worked on the rez with six level 3 registered sex offenders.

That investigation had to stop at him. Whatever he said or would reveal about anyone else had to be silenced. And it was. That was 2007. Did you ever wonder? Now, looking at it in the rear view mirror, don't you think it's obvious?

As long as it was confined to Indian Country, they could keep it quiet. If they had investigated, they would have found connections to other communities, other tribes, other states and other countries. That would cause that gelatinous base they've built their tower of power on, to shift and shake and maybe fall down.

You'll never hear from Steven Bruce Cartier again. No one will ever speak to him. They have that domino locked securely away.

Politics is Fragile Wiener Mobile Crashes & Burns

Ahhh! Yes, tis the season! You know I am a die-hard Democrat right? You'd think that I'd put all my faith in the Democratic Party to be the one of virtue and campaign for only Democrats to be seated. But in North Dakota, no. I'll explain.

I'm kind of an idealist. I'm pragmatic in that I know there has to be compromise to get progress, so clearly I am not a purist. But I have standards. Most of the sex scandals have been on the GOP side. When they happen on the GOP side, they tend to be forgiven. Such as Vitter being a client of the DC Madam, and having a dirty diaper fetish (it was gross), but he was protected by GOP power elites (every vote counts) and even managed to be re-elected to congress despite the revelations.

One that is very, very memorable on the Democratic Party Side of the Aisle was that loudmouth firebrand Anthony Wiener of New York. Quickly he rose to prominence and even married into a very politically well-connected family. While his wife was pregnant with their first child, he was sending pictures of his junk to other women, and even got them posted on Twitter.

He denied and denied, but the truth came out. Props to the Democratic House Leader at the time, Nancy Pelosi for tolerating none of it and along with other party elites, pushed him into resigning before the week was out. We are less tolerant of perverts and deviants on our side of the aisle. I'll give us that much. He was a full on disgrace.

He tried to make a comeback, but failed miserably. I believe that had he been a Republican he would have been protected and re-elected in the same way that Vitter was.

One thing the Democratic Party cannot afford is another Anthony Wiener scandal, or any wiener scandal at all.

So imagine my surprise when I learned that not only was Chase Iron Eyes going to run for the Congressional Seat currently held by Kevin Cramer (The ONLY politician from North Dakota to do ANYTHING to protect the children and demand investigations), but that he, despite the open secret of his having affairs and texting nude selfies (face included. Got to have that 'look', y'know) to current and ex-girlfriends (clean out your contacts folder, that won't happen so often).

Like Anthony Wiener, he is a married man and he has children. He's just a little drunk on fame and power as was one of his many paramours, Tribal Court Judge Ruth Hopkins, whose marriage took a crap because of her affair with Chase Iron Eyes.

Imagine even more surprise when I learned that he was running as a DEMOCRAT! And that Heidi Heitkamp was firmly supporting him.

Ew, that last sentence sounds filthy for some reason, doesn't it?

It's as if Heitkamp doesn't care if the Democratic Party, currently in the minority, takes another kick in the morals by her bringing in such a flawed candidate.

And you thought his criminal past was going to be the problem? His nude selfies are everywhere. But that's the one she picked out of the litter to be her pet.

He's very involved in the writing of the laws that will make it impossible and illegal to investigate child rape, child abuse, child trafficking on the rez or anywhere in the country if any tribe anywhere, claims that child as having Native Blood, with or without documentation. Yeah, it's a real law and they are pushing it and Heitkamp is pushing it and that's why she's in bed with (Politically speaking) (I hope) someone as creepy as Chase Iron Eyes.

If I were North Dakota, I'd get out and vote no matter what, for Kevin Cramer. I'd also vote against Heitkamp. If she's willing to promote a known philanderer as a quality candidate, Junk Selfies and all, what else is she tangled up in?

And don't tell me she didn't know. She would have to claim profound stupidity at this point, and make it so believable you wouldn't be able to vote for her on that alone.

You Tube

She's made a video now, of her testifying in Congress for funding for a program to help Indian Children. She talks about how she's been studying this since she was the Attorney General for North Dakota. She lists the ailments of these kids as 'depression, and low graduation rates, high suicide' but she leaves out the violence and the sexual assaults as causes that need to be addressed.

I found it almost startling that in her opening statement she mentions how complex these problems are and how she wants to have real professionals get in there and start making fixes... funny because when a real professional, Thomas Sullivan, tried to get her to listen, she refused.

She literally refused all the information he had for her and refused to meet with him. She also refused to meet with Social Workers and others working in Social Services but suddenly she wants us to believe she's the champion of these poor suffering Indian Children.

Her statement, along with her well-rehearsed facial expressions of concern when added up in total are a very emotional nothing burger. There's no excuse for her continuing after all these decades, to pretend rampant child abuse, violence and child trafficking/trading/swapping for drugs or cash is not itself at the very heart of what ails Indian Country and every community therein.

She wants us to focus on those tribes that have 'done it right'. The shining successes. She doesn't want us looking at Child abuse on any reservation, and especially not on the reservations she's calling 'successes'.

You stop child abuse by arresting the abusers. You stop child abuse by investigating the reports of child abuse. Not by protecting the predators, harassing the whistleblowers and ignoring the reports. It should be obvious, no?

Her idea of professionals? Casey Family Programs. The ones declared by Harvard Professor Elizabeth Bartholet as running a scam, a sham and that their program policies were at the root of Social Services failures to protect children all across the land!

Well, them and of course, Chase Iron Eyes.

Back to His Tube

By the way, the naked selfies he sent out were really nothing to brag about. I'd post them but I'd have to put a dot on them and that dot itself would be misleading. Know what I mean?

Pro Tip: If you're a married man, with children and you're having an affair (or two or three or more) don't send out naked selfies. And especially don't send out naked selfies where someone has to Look Twice to see that yes, yes you were naked and there it is, that little tiny thing... that's it! Gonna have to call him "Looks Twice" now, except that's actually a respected name. Maybe Looks Tiny? I dunno. It's been ages since I've given out any Indian names.

Maybe he should try to hide for awhile. Him and Heidi should try to hide for awhile. The Democratic Party really doesn't need this kind of shit again. Wiener was a surprise and disappointment. Looks Tiny is a known scandal waiting to take a seat and embarrass the whole party—again.

Back To That Rock They Keep Trying to Break

Meanwhile, despite all the best efforts of those who have so much to hide, the horrors of what is happening to these kids while Heitkamp and the ACF, BIA and the rest of them pretend they don't know, is being revealed as people come forward and tell their stories and lawsuits are being filed.

You will find the following two stories very compelling.

FOX NEWS ran a story. Interesting that those trying to protect the abusers are employing the deflection tactics and screaming victim of racism when in fact, the only reason they have been able to allow the crimes against Indian Children to continue and escalate is by declaring Indian Children as "other than" full citizens by virtue of their race. Using Race to systematically, legally deny Human Beings their rights and protections under the law, is the very definition of racism.

And...

Thompson Reuters Foundation News Gets more directly to the heart of why child abuse, trafficking, rape is so prevalent. There's big money in it. It goes on and along with the Oil Fields where crimes are protected by the turning of a blind-eye because... well, money is more powerful than basic Human Morals in most cases.

And it's that way because the system has been in place for so long, and is so well established, and entrenched that if someone was to report it, to whom would they report it? Who ISN'T involved?

We know that by the time it gets to the USAG's office, well, we've seen what happens there enough to know by now, haven't we?

The Truth is being revealed. The more they try to hide it, the more they try to pretend it's not there, the more they fling themselves against it the more they are revealed.

Not everyone is as self-revealing as Chase Iron Eyes, mind you... but they are by what they do, what they say and who they harass and who they fire when they try to hide behind more and more lies, that Rock of Truth does not change. It just gets more and more revealed.

It's election season. Get involved. Vote for the person who has proven their character. Get those who have made this worse and lied to you OUT of Office. They're hurting the children. They're protecting the predators and they are using hundreds of Billions of our Tax Dollars to do it.

You know where to find me.
